Too Tired to do Homework

It is Tuesday. Jose Martinez sits down in the living room after dinner. He turns on the TV. He puts his feet up on the coffee table. Jose is watching a baseball game.

Jose’s mother is angry. She wants Jose to do his homework. His report on the state of California is due on Friday. Jose doesn’t want to do his report. He is too tired.

Jose’s mother turns off the TV. The report is very important. She gets out some books, maps, pens, and paper. Jose works on the report. If he finishes the report, he can watch the baseball game on Thursday.
